The Chancellor shall establish procedures that will provide methods to authenticate or verify the student's identity for distance education and correspondence education courses.

Authentication and Verification of Student Identity:

One or more of these methods will be used to authenticate or verify the student's identity:

- Secure credentialing/login and password

Definition:

Distance education means instruction in which the instructor and student are separated by distance and interact through the assistance of communication is defined as a formal interaction which by using one or more technologies to deliver instruction to students who are separated from the instructor and which supports regular and substantive interaction between the students and instructor, either synchronously or asynchronously. Any portion of the course conducted through distance education must include regular effective and substantive contact between instructor and students.

Title V section 55200 Definition:

"Distance education means instruction in which the instructor and student are separated by distance and interact through the assistance of communication"

Title V Section 55204 states that "any portion of a course conducted through distance education includes regular effective contact (Regular and substantive interaction) between instructor and students. To be considered regular effective contact, the contact with students in online and hybrid classes must be instructor initiated, with expectations for methods used and timeliness clearly established and communicated to students.

What is a DE course?

DE Courses are considered the "virtual equivalent" to face to face courses. Therefore, the frequency of the contact will be at least the same as would be established in a regular, face to face course. At the very least, the number of instructor contact hours per week that would be available for face to face students, will also be available, in asynchronous and/or synchronous mode, with students in the DE format. Contact shall be distributed in a manner that will ensure that regular contact is maintained, given the nature of asynchronous instructional methodologies, over the course of a week and should occur as often as is appropriate for the course.

Instructors will regularly initiate interaction with students to determine that they are accessing and comprehending course material and that they are participating regularly in the activities in the course. Providing students with an open ended question forum, although appropriate, does not constitute the entirety of effective instructor initiated interaction.

Regular and effective contact is required by federal, state, ACCJC, and GCCCD Board policies.

Each proposed or existing course offered by distance education shall be reviewed and approved separately. Separate approval is mandatory if any portion of the instruction in a course or a course section is designed to be provided through distance education.

State Authorization:

Under federal regulations, a student that is enrolled in any educational program including via distance education offered by a post-secondary institution cannot use Title IV program funds for that program if the institution the student is attending does not have authorization in the State in which the student resides. Institutions must develop procedures to make a determination of the State in which a student is located, both at the time of the student's initial enrollment in an educational program and upon formal receipt of information from the student that their location has changed.

To ensure that institutions offering distance education are legally authorized and monitored by states, as required by the Higher Education Act, the proposed regulations clarify state authorization requirements for institutions to participate in the Department's federal student aid programs. The proposed regulations also address state and federal oversight of American colleges operating in foreign locations worldwide.
