Grossmont-Cuyamaca Community College District Fall Surplus Property Auction Now Live

EL CAJON, Calif. — The Grossmont-Cuyamaca Community College District has officially launched its fall surplus property auction, now live and open to the public. This season, the auction is split into two separate events, held simultaneously at Grossmont and Cuyamaca colleges.

- Grossmont College's auction ends: November 17, 2025
- Cuyamaca College's auction ends: November 18, 2025

A wide variety of surplus items are available for bid, including Dell and Apple computers, laptops, monitors, utility carts, vehicles, printers, sports equipment, office furniture, and miscellaneous electronic equipment.

All items can be viewed and bid on at <http://calauctions.com>. The auction is open to the public, and both business owners and individuals are encouraged to explore the inventory.

The District conducts regular surplus sales as part of its sustainability efforts in an effort to reduce its carbon footprint, repurposing equipment and technology that would otherwise remain unused.

Featured items include:

- Pommel horses

- Balance beam
- Air purifiers

Additional donated items from academic and operational departments include:

- Industrial refrigerator
- Medical training equipment: dummies, stethoscopes
- Other gymnastics equipment: uneven bars, spring-loaded platforms
- Vehicles
- Office equipment: printers, desktops, laptops, industrial coffee makers
- Chemistry lab equipment
- And much more!

Items will be sold both individually and by the pallet.

Grossmont College auction winners may pick up their items on:

- Wednesday, November 19, 2025 | 9:00 AM – 3:00 PM

Cuyamaca College auction winners may pick up their items on:

- Thursday, November 20, 2025 | 9:00 AM – 3:00 PM

Item descriptions and lot numbers will indicate the designated pick-up location. All sales are final.
